How to get excited about Social Action

Try as much as you can or as much as you feel comfortable with, you never know it might be fun!

Make sure that you do it after studying/working, whenever you have a bit of free time, so you can totally concentrate on that.

Try as much as you can or as much as you feel comfortable with, you never know it might be fun!

Choose a topic that you’re passionate about, if you’re doing something that you like but aren’t passionate about than doing anything about it will seem exhausting

By the end of the programme I discovered that I was way more confident than I thought, just try everything and you might discover something new about yourself

Choose a topic that you’re passionate about, if you’re doing something that you like but aren’t passionate about than doing anything about it will seem exhausting

It is important to be enthusiastic because you get out as much as you put in.

Suggest anything - ideas begin to flow naturally from point to point and you’ll eventually reach a brilliant plan for a social action. No idea is dumb, silly or unachievable!

Choose a topic that you’re passionate about, if you’re doing something that you like but aren’t passionate about than doing anything about it will seem exhausting

Trust the process. At times it may feel like you aren’t doing much, and it can take a while to get going but believe in your own abilities because you are enough to make a difference, no matter how big or small that impact may be

Choose a topic that you’re passionate about, if you’re doing something that you like but aren’t passionate about than doing anything about it will seem exhausting

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

It might take a while to get your project off the ground but don’t worry it usually takes a while to plan it and make sure everything works.

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

Make sure that you do it after studying/working, whenever you have a bit of free time, so you can totally concentrate on that.

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

Take advantage of all the resources that are given to you

Make sure everyone has an equal workload so one person isn’t doing all the work

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

Bring new ideas and always be yourself but most importantly have fun!!

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

Trust the process. At times it may feel like you aren’t doing much, and it can take a while to get going but believe in your own abilities because you are enough to make a difference, no matter how big or small that impact may be

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

Be yourself and be confident! And feel comfortable and know that there are people to help you.

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

If it’s important to you, bring it up. You don’t know how many other people in the group share your opinion. It’s valuable if you care about it.

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

Bring new ideas and always be yourself but most importantly have fun!!

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

If you have an idea, don’t let anybody stop you. If you are passionate, anything can be done. Perseverance is key. As women, we often get belittled for strength, power and enthusiasm. Set your mind to your social action project and own it.

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

Be yourself and be confident! And feel comfortable and know that there are people to help you.

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

If it’s important to you, bring it up. You don’t know how many other people in the group share your opinion. It’s valuable if you care about it.

Remember that everything might not always go to plan, and your ideas and situations could change

If you have an idea, don’t let anybody stop you. If you are passionate, anything can be done. Perseverance is key. As women, we often get belittled for strength, power and enthusiasm. Set your mind to your social action project and own it.